

Dear Friends:

In the year 2000 most of you read my name for first time ever on flyer announcing an international men's fastpitch and I'm sure lots of you probably said, " who in the world is this Alex Linares " ? You read my name for first time then and thru all these years you became familiar with my name and the kind of event I had put together. Some of the very familiar faces running events were trying hard to put together " international events " but were not successfull. Alex Linares came to the game, affiliated with a corporation that had been doing "youth" sports events for over a hundred years but knew nothing about men's fastpitch, this corporation had recently affiliated with Florida's biggest employer that had just finished building a brand new sports complex, Alex Linares hired one of the familiar faces in the game to run the event giving him the chance being that he was one of the person that had failed for years in the " International market" Alex Linare's determination to make this event a success knew that putting all these elements together and with his communication skills and his contacts in Latin America it would be a big success and in deed it became a big one.

I, Alex Linares am no longer with the AAU or doing the event at that beautiful sports complex but I will never settle for less.

I have now affiliated with ISF and ASA and will bring you an even bigger event.

Guys, use your common sense and ask yourself some questions..

How was is it that all of a sudden this International event came about ? Who was responsible for it ? In all these years, when you needed to know anything about the January event in Orlando,Florida who did you call ? You called Alex..

Ask yourself, why all of a sudden entry fee for the event would go down when in fact I was been pressure to raise the entry fee to $750 for the 2013 event ?

Reason !! They know but won't say it.. I am the real deal.

I am the real International person. Guys, I need your vote of confidence

Think again... For ISF and ASA to be giving me their support there has to be a reason..

January International is " The Real Deal "
